Read Aloud

How do we describe people? Describing people helps us share information about others. We talk about their appearance and personality. For looks, we mention hair color, eye color, and height. Someone might have long or short hair blue or brown eyes. Personality is about how they act. We say if they are friendly, funny, or quiet. They may like sports or enjoy reading. When we describe someone, it helps others picture them in their minds. So, if you want to tell a friend about a new friend, you can describe what they look like and what makes them special!
