1.2 Instruction - Non-Academic Listen-Speak

The slide features a background image of a person's hands typing on a laptop keyboard while holding a cup of coffee. A blue header bar at the top contains a speaker icon, the text 'Class 9', and 'Speaking - Session 3'. A green close button is in the top right corner. On the left, a white speech bubble with a megaphone icon contains the word 'INSTRUCTION'. The main text area is white with a thin horizontal line above and below the instructions. The instructions are for a 'Non-Academic Listen-Speak' task, explaining that the user will listen to a talk and speak about it, with two tasks in total. It advises taking notes and listening carefully. Below this, four steps are listed: Step 1 (Play the Audio), Step 2 (Adjust speed and volume), Step 3 (Discuss the question), and Step 4 (Show the model answer). A red 'Continue' button is at the bottom center.

Audio Script: Activity 01

Teacher: Good afternoon, class! Today, I have an intriguing announcement about our upcoming sociology lesson. For those who couldn't make it, here's what's on the horizon. We're delving into the concept of societal norms.

There is no need to bring textbooks but come with an open mind. We'll explore how societal norms shape our behavior. It's abstract, but it will make sense as we discuss it.

Now, someone asked if they should do some prior reading. Indeed, grab a supplementary article I'll provide. It delves into a case study about the impact of societal norms on a specific community.

We'll have a guided discussion based on the article next week, and I expect a short reflection paper on your insights by the end of that week.

Now, for the second part of our sociological exploration. Your homework is a research paper. Choose a societal norm that interests you, investigate its origins, and discuss its evolution.

The research paper is due the following week. In summary, a sociology discussion in class with a guided article discussion and reflection is due next week, and a research paper on a societal norm is due the week after. Any questions? See you on our sociological journey!

Model Answer

In sociology class today, the teacher shared intriguing plans. We're delving into societal norms, exploring how they shape behavior. There is no need for textbooks, but we'll discuss a supplementary article about a case study.

The article discussion is next week, and I'll need to submit a short reflection paper on my insights by the end of that week. For homework, we're tasked with a research paper on a societal norm of our choice, investigating its origins and discussing its evolution over time. This research paper is due the following week. In summary, a sociology discussion in class with a guided article discussion and reflection is due next week, and a research paper on societal norms is due the week after. Exciting stuff!
